Dr. James Manning, Principal
Langley High School
6520 Georgetown Pike
McLean, Virginia 22101

Dear Dr. Manning,

It was a pleasure meeting and talking with you last Wednesday. As I indicated during our conversation, we have people with extensive professional preparation and active responsibilities in a wide array of field relating, both directly and indirectly, to international affairs. They include political, economics and military analysts; geographers, historians, computer scientists, foreign linguists and photogrammetrists; physicians and lawyers; physical and behavioral scientists; finance, personnel and security specialists; and many others.

This is not intended to overwhelm you, but rather to give you some idea of the subjects which Agency employees can address, in an unclassified context of course, for the benefit of your students.

Our employees' work demands may sometimes curtail our ability to provide someone at the time and on the subject you or your staff desires, but with lead time of one to two weeks (to allow time for scheduling and preparation), we will try our best. You or whomever you designate could just give me a call [redacted] and my office will pick it up from there. We hope that such an arrangement will make a useful contribution to the educational program at Langley High School. I look forward to future contact with you.

Sincerely,

Coordinator for Academic Affairs
